

Kim Brown
Biography

Kim Brown is a College Planning Specialist for EducationQuest Foundation in Omaha, Nebraska – a position she has held since 2016.

Brown helps students and parents seeking information and support in career exploration, college research, and the financial aid process including the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid). She also provides school-based services to Omaha-area high schools, and conducts financial aid programs and webinars.

Brown graduated from the University of Nebraska at Omaha in 1995 with a bachelor's degree in general studies with areas of concentration in sociology, human development and family studies.

---

EducationQuest Foundation is a nonprofit organization with a mission to improve access to higher education in Nebraska. Headquartered in Lincoln, EducationQuest provides free college planning services, need-based scholarship programs, college access grants for high schools, college access resources for middle schools, and outreach services for community agencies.